

Emergency First Response Instructor

The EFR Instructor Course provides qualified individuals with the additional training necessary to teach the Emergency First Response Primary Care (CPR) and EFR Secondary Care (First Aid) courses. This course builds on the candidates' skills as primary and secondary care providers and focuses on developing their instructional abilities. Through independent study, classroom sessions and practice teaching assignments, candidates learn to conduct the Emergency First Response program.

The Emergency First Response Instructor Course goals are to:

- Assure that inst. candidates understand the EFR program structure, requirements and procedures.
- Familiarize inst. candidates with the EFR program philosophy and prepare them to teach courses that are low-stress, performance-based and learning-centered.
- Refine the instructor candidates' primary and secondary care skills to a role-model level.
- Provide inst. candidates with practical suggestions for organizing and marketing their EFR courses.
- Encourage inst. candidates to be active EFRI's and to use their skills to train others in the community.

The EFRI Care for Children Course provides qualified individuals with the additional training necessary to teach the Emergency Responders infant and child patient care skills. This course builds on the candidate's emergency care background and focuses on developing the necessary skills for infant and child care. Through independent study, classroom sessions and practice teaching assignments, instructor candidates learn to conduct the EFR Care for Children program.

Prerequisites

To enroll in an Emergency First Response Instructor Course, an individual must:

- Have completed a sanctioned course in adult and child/infant CPR within the past 24 months.
- Have completed a sanctioned course in basic first aid within the past 24 months
- 18 years of age.
